

Climate Justice Program 2023

The Climate Justice Program 2023 (renamed from FNPOC Placement Program) will be Democracy in Colour's fourth year of running our unique leadership, professional development and job placement program.

In the past three years we have supported or created roles for 45 First Nations and People of Colour (FNPOC) in Not for Profits, including the social service, climate and union sectors.

We supported three entry level program alumni into new mid level positions in the Climate and Union Movement in 2022 and will continue to deliver leadership outcomes and increase opportunities for FNPOC.

Why

The Climate Justice Program will create measurable change for racial justice and inclusion by supporting and developing FNPOC talent as well as organisational and climate movement capacity.

The climate sector struggles with cultural safety, recruitment and retention of FNPOC talent, and meaningful representation in leadership.

FNPOC in the climate sector struggle with racial injustice: cultural unsafety, lack of leadership opportunities or outright exclusion.

As a result, organisations are far less impactful, failing to harness talents and experience of FNPOC, nor to meaningfully work with communities of colour towards Climate Justice.

Democracy in Colour will open doors for FNPOC talent, supporting their professional and lived experience expertise to represent our communities, lead and build real power towards Climate Justice in climate organisations.

How

The Climate Justice Program provides:

In-depth training to support on-the-job learning and up-skilling, build up resilience, Climate Justice practices and professional confidence; a majority of training is delivered by FNPOC expert facilitators..

Professional mentoring by Senior FNPOC mentors to build leadership capacity, skills and knowledge

Peer to Peer coaching, support, collaboration, solidarity and safety for sharing common lived experiences and meeting challenges

Culturally safe, nurturing and productive spaces and experiences are actively embedded in the program to provide participants with a powerful, connected, validating, and transformative experience.

Key to the program's success is that we work with participants and their workplaces to build anti-oppression and racial justice cultures rooted in equity, justice and fairness.

Objectives

1. Support and empower FNPOC to:

- Apply for and acquire roles successfully.
- Build pathways to leadership roles within workplaces and across the Climate movement.
- Work and professionally develop safely and sustainably.
- Develop capacity to represent and lead for their communities in organisational strategies.

2. Build capacity of organisations to:

- Recruit, recognise and cultivate FNPOC talent.
- Set and achieve racial justice and equity objectives to transform at a structural level.
- Resource and empower FNPOC in their teams, and put people on pathways to leadership.

Program Structure and Time Commitment

The Climate Justice Program requires the equivalent of one day a fortnight of work time for 8 months. This time will be spent on:

- Fortnightly 1 hour online clinics for peer to peer coaching and group work.
- 3 face-to-face intensive retreats of 2 days with workshops and networking activities.
- 12 mentoring sessions at 1 hour each.

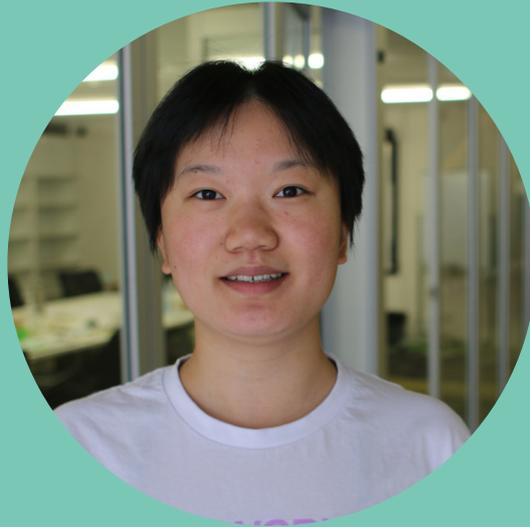

Democracy in Colour will match each participant with a suitable FNPOC mentor, senior in position and with relevant experience to their field.

Proposed Curriculum

Participants will gain skills, knowledge, support and opportunities for practical application in the following areas:

- Management of people, projects, time and resources including budgets.
- Emergent Strategy and community building.
- How to lead for FNPOC, including representing and empowering communities of colour.
- Advanced campaigning, community organising, political strategy, communications, media and power building, especially in communities of colour.
- Racial Justice and Climate Justice advocacy.
- Navigating being a leader of colour safely and effectively .
- Mentoring and facilitation to step up and create safe spaces and opportunities for more FNPOC to participate and lead in the movement.

Testimonials

I really learned a lot from last year's POC placement program. What I value the most in this program is not only the knowledge and skills about organising and campaigns, but also being a part of this fantastic community in which we have diverse experiences, but sharing the same goal of speaking up for POC and promoting climate and social justice"

Meng Liu, placed at Working Women's Centre

"Being part of a community of professionals of colour to share ideas and experiences with has enriched the way I do my work, and empowered me to amplify our voices when discussing campaigns."

- Zerene Catacutan, Media Officer, Climate Council

"It was directly the investment by Democracy in Colour and the placement program in myself and other cohort members that meant that we were able to go and build the spaces for other people of colour that are so desperately needed."

Grace Vegesana, Climate and Racial Justice Campaigner , Australian Youth Climate Coalition
